

5 THINGS YOUR NEIGHBORING DEER HUNTERS HATE

TRESPASSING

Always have permission to be on the land you are hunting.

Remember: A person who is willing to trespass isn't concerned about breaking the law and could be dangerous.

DISRESPECTING THE RESOURCE

Always treat your kill with respect. Follow your state laws and ethics. We owe that much to the animals we pursue.

DISRESPECTING THE LAND

Do not destroy habitats by littering and causing harm to the environment. You are a conservationist, leave the land better than when you found it.

DISREGARDING OTHER HUNTERS

Elevate everyone's outdoor experiences and successes. Always have respect for and stay aware of fellow hunters.

FAILING TO MANAGE THE HERD

Make harvest decisions based on what the herd needs at the time. Always make management decisions that benefit the white-tailed deer.

PROTECT YOUR LAND.
PROTECT YOURSELF.

Outdoor Insurance Simplified.
OutdoorUnd.com